Scaling renewable energy and low-carbon technology: Allianz to profitably grow revenues from transition solutions in commercial insurance portfolio by 150% and provide additional investments of 20 billion euros by 2030; This plan defines how Allianz is going to contribute to the economic transformation towards a net-zero economy.

The Allianz transition plan includes a commitment to achieve 150% profitable growth in revenues from renewable energy and low-carbon technology solutions in the commercial insurance segment by 2030 versus 2022. Allianz is already a leading insurer of solar photovoltaic and wind farms, both onshore and offshore.

And while overall energy demand fell drastically due to Covid-19, wind, solar and hydroelectricity all grew, with solar energy recording its largest-ever increase in 2020. In the next 30 years, the US Energy Information Administration projects the percentage of renewable energy to double, hitting 42% of the country's electrical output by 2050.

Allianz is committed to helping shape a more sustainable future and in the past year has launched numerous initiatives, including: the Net Zero Accelerator - helping brokers to measure and reduce their carbon footprint, partnering with Synetiq for sourcing green parts for motor claims, and having all UK offices run on renewable energy.

The portfolio of ACP now comprises 42 wind farms in Germany, France, Italy and Sweden and seven solar parks in Italy and France. All assets are 100 per cent owned by Allianz. "We are delighted to pass the 1000 megawatts milestone with the acquisition of "Haut Chemin", said David Jones, Head of Renewable Energy at Allianz Capital Partners.
