What happened to select snare drums?

At the beginning, the company was called "Select Snare Drums". We had a little problem with the name, as it seems someone else had the rights, so we changed it to "Solid". We went along for about two years and unfortunately had to fold the company. Gene D'Amico wound up buying all the rights to the Solid design.

Who makes Craviotto solid shell drums?

Handcrafted in the USA by the finest artisan craftsmen, Craviotto's one-ply solid shell drums have become the industry standard for heirloom quality custom drums. Made using Johnny Craviotto's iconic recipe to his strict quality standards, Craviotto Solid Shell Drums continue to grace the world's finest stages and studios.

How many Craviotto drums are there?

In the final design, these extremely limited edition (only 25 drums) were hand engraved and numbered 5.5 X 14" black nickel-plated drums with one-piece beaded shells (0.7mm thick), 24K gold-plated hardware, solid brass hoops, Craviotto signature diamond brass tube lugs and a Craviotto Vintage 3-point strainer.
